SOUND FAMILIAR?

The jobsite runs fine. The office is bleeding money.

You know how to build. But chasing paper and hunting payments is destroying your margins:

$3,800/mo Estimate Errors	Manual takeoffs miss quantities and forget markups. One wrong line item on 3 bids/month = $3,800+ in lost margin. You don't know it's gone until the job's done.
$2,400/mo Late Invoicing	Crew finished 3 weeks ago. Invoice still sitting. You're floating $40K+ in payroll while waiting. Late invoices have 3x higher non-payment rates.
$1,800/mo Change Order Chaos	"Add an outlet here" becomes unpaid work without documented approval. Average contractor eats $600/job in undocumented extras.
$2,200/mo Scheduling Chaos	Double-booked crews. Subs that don't show. Wrong materials delivered. You're managing a $1M+ operation on group texts and sticky notes.
$1,200/mo Lost Leads	Someone called about a remodel. You were on a roof. Forgot to call back. They hired your competitor. This happens 4-5 times/month.

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE
Most contractors make it back in 2 jobs.

$136K+/yr

WHY QUANTLAB

We build for your trade. Not for Silicon Valley.

vs. Buildertrend / CoConstruct / Jobber

They: $500+/mo subscription. Can't customize. Features you don't need. Missing the ones you do. They own your data.

Us: Your platform. Your workflow. One-time build. You own the code forever. No monthly hostage fees.

vs. Spreadsheets & Paper

They: Estimates in Excel. Invoices in QuickBooks. Schedule on whiteboard. Leads in your head. Nothing talks to anything.

Us: One system: lead → estimate → win → track → invoice → paid → follow up. All automatic.

vs. Hiring an IT Person

They: They reset passwords and set up printers. Can't build software. $60K+/year. And they quit.

Us: Senior engineers build what you need, train your crew, and provide ongoing support — fraction of the cost.
